

News

5 Things to Know About Vanderbilt at IFSEC International 2019

The Vanderbilt team is ready to gather with 27,000 world-renowned industry leaders, security directors and managers, installers, integrators and distributors from across the globe at IFSEC International 2019.

But before you step foot inside ExCeL, London, on June 18-20, we're sharing what you can expect to see from us at this year's event:

1. Joining Forces

Vanderbilt is thrilled to team up with our sister company ComNet at stand #IF1520 during the show. Both companies are eager to share more about how we are working together to offer customers an advanced level of service by harnessing numerous tools to complement a buyer's journey from start to finish.

2. Value Adds

Alongside ComNet, Vanderbilt will highlight customer security journey "value adds" and share how we strive to deliver exceptional solutions together. Working closely with our sister company allows for access to an in-depth transmissions and connectivity portfolio. This enables our team to easily support customers with products and services ranging from hardened Ethernet, commercial Ethernet, extended Ethernet, wireless Ethernet, optical interfaces and power systems.

Additionally, Vanderbilt's Learning Management System (LMS) allows customers remote access to training courses and advanced learning options from anywhere, at any time. The platform includes quick-to-complete modules, quizzes and assessments, and downloadable notes, all equipped to allow customers instant access to resources about principal products in an instant.

3. Flagship Product Preview

Vanderbilt's complete and award-winning access control and intrusion detection portfolio, featuring products such as ACT Enterprise, ACT365, SPC and SPC Connect, will be showcased at this year's show, demonstrating our ability to address a variety of customer situations and challenges. Visitors can also explore the company's latest developments, such as the launch of the new ACTpro PoE controllers, and learn more about the award-winning SPC system that has been recently accredited to the NF A2P Cyber-RTC cybersecurity standard from the CNPP.

4. Detailed Demonstrations

The best way to truly grasp how Vanderbilt's line of security solutions can benefit you and your organization is to experience the products in person. In addition to demonstrations of our access control and intrusion detection products, Vanderbilt team members will share their expertise in Software-as-a-Service solutions, with "how-to" demonstrations on ways that installers can get the most out of the company's award-winning solutions. Don't just take it from us: book your demo today.

5. Delivering Exceptional Security and Transmission Solutions

With a combined mission, Vanderbilt and ComNet are committed to delivering a broad security, transmission and connectivity product portfolio with outstanding customer support based on our core values. We recognize that solutions must attend to varied requirements of different applications and be adaptable enough to grow and scale to your expectations. Stop by stand #IF1520 during the show to see how together Vanderbilt and ComNet can help your organization find the security solution to meet your requirements.

We look forward to chatting with you at IFSEC 2019 and sharing more about how we can be your trusted one-stop shop for innovative, customizable safety and security solutions that are easy to use, scalable and efficient. Click here to schedule a one-on-one meeting with our team during the show.

Visit us at Stand #IF1520

vanderbiltindustries.com