Vanderbilt launch training partnership with 6SS in Middle East & Africa

Vanderbilt are pleased to announce the launch of a strategic partnership with 6SS LCC as their dedicated training and services provider in the Middle East and Africa.

Commenting on the new strategic partnership, Alex Holmström, Director of Sales for Northern Europe and Rest of World at Vanderbilt, explains:

We have a very high demand for training in the region. 6SS are already the training and certification partner for a world-leading video company in the region, so this partnership is a great match for us at Vanderbilt. With our access control, intrusion, and transmission solutions, I am confident that, together with 6SS, we will strengthen our ability to produce very high-quality certification training for our main product lines in the MEA region.

6SS was Founded in 2013 with headquarters in Minnesota, USA, and a major office in Lebanon that serves the MEA region with local trainers in various countries.

Speaking about the announcement from the 6SS perspective, was Elias Bechara, Managing Director:

We are thrilled to announce that Vanderbilt and 6SS have formed a strategic partnership in the name of sharing knowledge, education, and support. 6SS is honored to be Vanderbilt's training and professional services partner. We aim to increase knowledge and expertise in the market to successfully deploy and optimize their systems with a higher ROI.
